Create, merge, manage, print – all in a single application.

An opportunity may be passing you by: the chance to use everyday business mailings and back-office forms to communicate powerful, targeted messages that promote product benefits, announce promotions and power up your sales.

With DocForm software, you can do it all from your Konica Minolta bizhub multifunctional product. DocForm lets you quickly and easily replace bulky, expensive preprinted forms with customized documents that look better and can be printed on demand. You'll save production costs and storage space – and you can merge additional data with total flexibility, including time-sensitive pricing, tie-in promotions, and special offers for key segments of your customer base.

You can also harness the full power of your bizhub MFP to distribute your new electronic forms and documents with greater flexibility – direct-mail flyers, Email bulletins, order updates, confirmations, invoices, statements and more, applying barcode information and accessing server logs to manage all your communications more cost-efficiently.

An ideal print management solution for back-office forms, finance and accounting systems, marketing and sales applications, human resource programs, corporate communications and general administrative documents.

Release the power of your database so you can easily mine data, manage templates, combine text with images, and merge information from mainframes, AS/400 systems, Tablet PCs, signature pads, websites, even desktop PCs.

Personalize messages for specific clients, customers, dealers, suppliers and outside resources – adding new information, coupons, discounts, announcements, updates, confirmations, special bulletins.

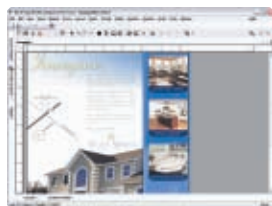

Use powerful conditional processing functions based upon scenarios customized to your needs – with graphical wizards to guide you through the process, plus advanced scripting via JavaScript.

Automate your print production from end to end – design forms, change fonts, apply colors and drawing elements, add logos and graphics, preview documents, view forms and raw data side by side, eliminate the need for two-pass printing or post-printing collation.

Speed distribution and reduce cost by accessing multiple output devices and choosing the method that best suits your needs in each case – print, Email, fax.

Total creativity: You can place color logos on electronic forms, use custom graphics, format text in a wide range of type fonts, insert addresses, apply conditional marketing messages, manage “floating” data and add barcode information.

Split-screen viewing: Data Mapper lets you source data on one side of your screen – Forms Editor lets you design exciting new documents and include data captured from the Data Mapper. It's fast, simple and intuitive.

Intelligent delivery: You'll be able to design, generate and distribute documents via production printers and output devices in any form – including fax, Email and PDF files.
